

Green Building Ratings:
How Does Your Building Measure Up?

Thursday, June 3, 2004 - 7:00 PM – 9:00 PM

RATING CATEGORIES: Site Use • Energy Efficiency • Indoor Air Quality • Bldg Materials • Solid Waste • Water Conservation

Scottsdale's green building rating system is used to qualify projects into the program. Over 150 environmentally responsible building options provide flexibility in the design and construction process. An overview of our green building rating criteria and examples of recent projects, design strategies and techniques will be covered in this lecture.

Anthony Floyd, City of Scottsdale Green Building Program Manager will be sharing his in-depth knowledge and experience with sustainable building projects.

This is an AIA Continuing Education Credit lecture. This lecture is FREE.

Please RSVP by calling the number below.

For more information please call 480-312-7224 or visit www.scottsdaleAZ.gov/greenbuilding

LOCATION: Scottsdale Community Design Studio – 7506 E. Indian School Rd (NE corner of 75th Street & Indian School Rd)
Sponsored by City of Scottsdale Green Building Program

Please note: The City of Scottsdale Green Building Program does not make any warranty (express or implied) or assume any liability or responsibility, for the accuracy, completeness or use of, or reliance on, any information presented as a part of this lecture. The intent of this lecture is to reflect the relationship of a product type or technique to environmentally responsible building. The lecture is for ed. value only and does not constitute an endorsement of specific products, techniques or vendors.